

Mark your calendars!

Your invited to the Williams Prize Awards Ceremony

The Williams Prize Ceremony is

Monday, May 6, 2019

At

2:00 p.m.

In

Global Commons in Williams Hall!

On behalf of the Williams Committee, I cordially invite you to join us in an ceremonial celebration. The ceremony will honor students who have won prizes for excellence in the writing of essays, poetry, fiction, and performance. Prizes will be awarded to students across many disciplines such as English, Art, Architecture & Design, History, Political Science & International Relations, Music, Theatre, Journalism, Business and Economics, Psychology, Sociology, & Anthropology, Philosophy & Religion, Modern Languages and Literature, and several others. Many students will read from their work, sharing with us their talent as exceptional Lehigh students.

As Chair of the Williams Committee, I would be honored and delighted if you could attend the ceremony. Again, it will take place on Monday, May 7 at 2:00 p.m. in Global Commons, Williams Hall. There will be a reception immediately following the ceremony.

Thank you for your consideration,

Edward Lotto
Professor of English
Chair, Williams Committee
